The Making Of

I've always liked the idea of creating experiences for the web. Nowadays, /, almost every mobile and desktop device has a web browser and visitors can experience your creation without the friction of /, downloading and installing a separate app. Prior to creating Vortelli's, I dabbled with tools like Three.js, Phaser and Construct, but /, I never actually completed a project. I kept falling into the cycle of starting a project with excitement and motivation /, but as I'd encounter problems, I'd gradually lose interest and eventually quit.

In mid-2024, I promised myself that I was going /, to break that cycle by finishing and releasing a 3D multiplayer web game. I still wasn't proficient with any particular /, game engine and I spent many hours reading and watching YouTube videos trying to decide on the perfect engine. I /, eventually figured out that there was no such thing as a perfect engine and I really just needed to pick /, one, learn the basics and start building. I ended up choosing PlayCanvas because I was already pretty comfortable with JavaScript /, and I found its editor very simple to use.

I spent the majority of my time figuring out how to get /, the multiplayer netcode working. At first, the prototype game didn't have any sort of goal or objective, it was just /, an open world where you could hang out with other players. Maybe it was because I'm a solo dev, but /, I started to feel that players would quickly become bored with this experience. Some kind of minigame needed to be /, added to give players a sense of purpose. I went with a pizza cooking minigame because everyone loves pizza, right? /, I chose the name Vortelli's Pizza, because it sounds like the name of a somewhat believable pizza shop and I /, couldn't find any real life businesses on Google using that name already.
